

Paying for clergy cover in a vacancy

During a parish vacancy it is normally the Area Dean and Churchwardens who organise clergy to take Sunday (and possibly midweek) services.

The fee for taking a service is £31.00* and the Diocese will reimburse for up to two services per week (per church) plus travel expenses (45p per mile). The fee is only payable to retired or non-stipendiary clergy who are not licensed to the parish. Travel expenses are payable to whomever takes the service (as long as they aren't licensed to the parish).

The PCC (treasurer/churchwarden) needs to send a brief statement, preferably on a monthly basis, to Cuthbert House at (accounts@durham.anglican.org).

On the first submission of a claim the PCC bank account details should be supplied so that payments can be set up by BACS transfer.

Funerals and weddings are dealt with in the normal way – paying 80% of the DBF fee to visiting retired/non-stipendiary clergy and submitting the remaining 20% in the usual way via the DBF Fee Return form.
